5.1 Attractions Included in the Admission to the Park.

5.1.1 Water Activities

- Underground Rivers

Xcaret's Rivers are part of a network of underground channels that riddle the Yucatan Peninsula. In general, you need to be a qualified diver to explore this magnificent underwater world, but at Xcaret you can participate in this unique adventure with just a life vest! Slow moving currents carry you gently along the crystal-clear waters of the three underground rivers: Azul (Blue River), Maya (Mayan River) and Manatí (Manatee River) for nearly half a mile, with six optional exit points along the way. During your swim, you will discover ancient Mayan sinkholes, rock formations and marine fossils. This labyrinth of caves and tunnels is lit at different points through natural skylights that give you a better glimpse at the beauty before your eyes. The rivers all have exits at every 100 yards in case you wish to exit before time. The three rivers at Xcaret end by the seaside, right next to the mangroves inhabited by spectacular pink flamingos. The admission ticket includes life vests and the safety bag service where you can place your personal objects to be given back to you at the river exit.

Blue River

- Average Temperature: 75°F
- Total Distance: 688 yards
- Average depth: Between 5 and 16 feet
- Attractions: Cascade, Unlit Tunnels, Flora from the region, Deer Shelter, Mangrove area
- Exits: 5
- Recommended for: Visitors without children who know how to swim, who are physically fit and want to swim a river with a current. This river has a counter-current and at the end there is a rope to hold on to help you get to the exit. This river is not recommended for people who don’t know how to swim.

- Schedule: Summer 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Winter 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
5.1 ATTRACTIONS INCLUDED IN THE ADMISSION TO THE PARK.

5.1.1 WATER ACTIVITIES

- THE INLET
  This inlet, with a top depth of 1.2 meters (3’11”) and no currents or waves, is the ideal place for learning to snorkel. Archaeologists think that the Maya launched their canoes from this point to row to Cozumel, after purifying their bodies and souls in the area’s sacred wells.

- BEACHES AND NATURAL POOLS
  The perfect complement to a day of fun is a moment at the beach: the best in the Caribbean with the comfort of loungers and thatched umbrellas, bar and snack service. To one side of Xcaret beach, behind the Aquarium, are the Park’s natural pools, with seawater naturally recycled by the tide, very similar to a jacuzzi; a place where you can enjoy the comforting massage of the waves without the danger of swimming in the open ocean.
5.1 ATTRACTIONS INCLUDED IN THE ADMISSION TO THE PARK.

5.1.2 FLORA AND FAUNA

BUTTERFLY PAVILION
Xcaret’s Butterfly Pavilion is the first butterfly breeding facility in Mexico. The structure is 49 feet high and has nearly 38,000 sq. ft. of free flying space, the largest such facility in the world. This Pavilion features only regional species in their natural habitats and its caretakers work diligently with some 5,000 butterflies in an intensive breeding program for 20 endemic species.

Schedule: Summer 8:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Winter 8:30 a.m. to 5:45 p.m.

WILD BIRD AVIARY
Xcaret is home to more than 24 species of tropical birds, most from Mexico’s southeast. Today—mostly due to poaching, the destruction of habitats and the black market—many of these animals are on the endangered species list. To date, we have successfully reproduced the Scarlet and Military Macaw, Yucatan Green Parrot, Lilac-Crowned Amazon, Yellow-Headed Parrot, and flamingos.

Flamingos, one of the most admired species at Xcaret, are beautiful pink birds that have found refuge here. You will be able to find this beauty throughout the Park: at the entrance, river exit, at the beach and also at the reproduction area.

Schedule Farm & entrance: Summer 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Winter 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.
Schedule Rivers & beach: Summer 8:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Winter 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

You will also find macaws with their beautiful feathers at several key points of the Park. At the Paradise River, the fauna and flora of the Peninsula will surprise you while you slowly navigate over the river waters on a raft. Nothing is more surprising than the macaws that fly over to say hello. You will also be able to enjoy an incredible kaleidoscope of nature’s bright colors covering the sky at Xcaret when the macaws take flight from the Saint Francis of Assisi Chapel.
5.1 ATTRACTIONS INCLUDED IN THE ADMISSION TO THE PARK.

5.1.2 FLORA AND FAUNA

On June 1st 2011, Xcaret was granted a Guinness World Record® for “most macaws born at a single location in one year”, the first of its kind granted to a Reproduction Program for endangered species.

Schedule at Paradise River: Summer 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.   Winter 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
Scheduled Flight from Chapel: Monday through Friday 12:00 p.m.
Breeding Farm Schedule: Summer 8:30 to 6:30 p.m.   Winter 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

* CROCODILES
The crocodiles you see in Xcaret belong to the Morlets species, which can grow up to 3.5 meters (11.5 feet long). Morlets are normally found in fresh or brackish water, however, they can adapt to salt water environments. Crocodiles lay eggs and, although they don’t need to incubate the eggs with their bodies, the females usually sleep on top of the nest until their eggs hatch. Crocodiles reach reproductive maturity at about 6 or 7 years of age.
Schedule: Summer 8:30 a.m. to 6:45 p.m.   Winter 8:30 to 5:45 p.m.

* BAT CAVE
There’s a cave housing hundreds of bats at the end of the lagoon. Bats play a very important role in ecosystems: they spread seeds, pollinate flowers and fruit trees, regulate insect populations and control pests. As we get to know bats, our opinion of them is sure to have a more positive focus.

* JAGUAR ISLAND
As we wander through Xcaret, we get a peek into the world of tropical mammals. Some of these are the majestic jaguars and pumas, who live on two large islands shaded by leafy trees and surrounded by wide channels of water. Jaguars, the largest felines in America, were sacred to the ancient Maya and especially worshipped due to their superb strength and beautiful pelts.
Schedule: Summer 8:30 a.m. to 6:45 p.m.   Winter 8:30 a.m. to 5:45 p.m.
5.1 ATTRACTIONS INCLUDED IN THE ADMISSION TO THE PARK.

5.1.2 FLORA AND FAUNA

DEER SHELTER
The Yucatan peninsula is known as “the land of the deer and pheasant” because they form a major part of the biological diversity and culture of the region. At Xcaret you will discover white-tail and Brocket deer and their offspring. Like almost all deer species, their young are born with white-spotted coats that help them blend in with the surrounding vegetation to protect themselves from their natural predators, principally jaguars and ocelots.

TAPIR’S TERRITORY
Poloc (which means “chubby boy” in Maya) is a male tapir that arrived at the park in December 2003 who also has the company of Lolha a female Tapir. This mammal—which, strange as it may seem, is related to the horse—is endemic to the region and, unfortunately is now on the endangered species list.

Schedule: Summer 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Winter 8:30 a.m. -5:30 p.m.

SPIDER MONKEY ISLAND
The islands occupied by small animals also represent the local fauna, such as the Tayra and Grisons (both members of the ferret family) and Spider Monkeys. This is a great place to stop and admire the acrobatic feats of these graceful and captivatingly funny animals.

Schedule: Summer 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Winter 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

HOWLER MONKEYS
Twenty howler monkeys arrived at Xcaret on February 2003. The Mexican Environmental Protection Agency (PROFEPA) called us to rescue 11 howler monkeys that were endangered by encroaching cattle ranches that were destroying their habitat. The same government agency donated 9 baby monkeys that were seized from individuals for various reasons. We now have a total of 22 howler monkeys after the two births that have taken place at our facilities.
5.1 Attributes Included in the Admission to the Park.

5.1.2 Flora and Fauna

- Sea Turtles
  Due to our commitment to the environment, our interest to actively participate in the protection of the green and loggerhead sea turtles began almost since the Park opened in 1989. Xcaret worked hand in hand with the Quintana Roo Research Center (CIQRO) from 1991 to 1995 in the Xacel sea turtle nesting camp, providing food for the hatchlings and supporting several activities of the Program. In 1992, the Ministry of the Environment and Natural Resources (SEMARNAT) authorized the creation of the "Sea Turtles in Xcaret" Project.

  During the 1995 nesting season, Xcaret Park supported the CIQRO Sea Turtle Protection Program, and was able to get 200 nests to safety, out of the reach of predators and poachers on the beach.

  In 1996, with the purpose of continuing their work with CIQRO, in coordination with the SEMARNAT, and based on the program they had newly created, Xcaret spread their protection and patrol project to other beaches of the Cancun-Tulum coastline, Tulum National Park and part of the Sian Ka’an Natural Reserve coastline. In 2002, Xcaret decided to place this project in the hands of the Flora, Fauna y Cultura de México A.C Association, thus insuring the continuity of the Sea Turtle Protection and Preservation Program of the Central Quintana Roo coastline.

  In 1993, Xcaret began a grafting and initiation program at the Park. Since 17 years ago, the Park has been using this grafting technique yearly on around 200 hatchlings which remain under our care for a period of 15 months, to then be released into the ocean, much stronger and with better chances of survival.

  During their stay in Xcaret, they are marked and we study their growth rate and behavior. This program has made it possible to increase our knowledge about the feeding habits, growth and development of the hatchlings and has made progress possible in the prevention and treatment of illnesses by implementing detection programs.

  During the season, Xcaret and a group of enthusiastic amateur conservationists release an average of 300,000 hatchlings from the Park’s turtle camps and neighboring beaches. Some ecological tours invite Park visitors to participate in the turtle release activities.

  Schedule: Summer 8:30 a.m. to 6:45 p.m. Winter 8:30 a.m. to 5:45 p.m.
5.1 ATTRACTIONS INCLUDED IN THE ADMISSION TO THE PARK.

5.1.2 FLORA AND FAUNA

- MANATEE LAGOON
  Manatees are mammals of the Sirenia order that live mainly in rivers, lagoons and mangroves. Manatees are strange beings: they always swim very slowly, dropping to the bottom of their watery habitat to feed off plants that they hold between their fins while they eat, like a baby holding its bottle. In like manner, females rise up vertically in the water and hold their young in their fins to nurse them, just like a human mother breast-feeding her child. The main species found in Mexico is the Trichechus manatus, which is seriously in danger of extinction. In August 2001, at the request of the Environmental Protection Agency (PROFEPA) and the Ministry of the Environment and Natural Resources, Xcaret rescued a pair of manatees living in a seriously polluted lagoon and in critical condition due to malnutrition. “Pompon and Nohoch” now live in one of the Park’s crystal-clear lagoons and are cared for, fed and protected by personnel from Via Delphi who have vast experience in the care and protection of marine mammals.

- TROPICAL JUNGLE TRAIL
  The Tropical Jungle Trail is located in a natural depression that is protected from hurricanes. More than 100 plant species grow here, including fruit trees and bushes, timber trees, ornamental and medicinal plants and trees for construction and rituals. All the plants are identified with signs. The wild plant propagation and rescue program for plants with environments that have been altered has more than 70,000 plants spread throughout Xcaret’s nurseries. This program includes endangered plant species—like the Sergeant’s Palm, Florida Thatch Palm and Cuban Wax Palm—and rare species like the Contrahierba, used in traditional Mayan medicine as an antidote for snakebites.
5.1 ATTRACTIONS INCLUDED IN THE ADMISSION TO THE PARK.

5.1.2 FLORA Y FAUNA

- NATURAL MUSEUM OF ORCHIDS AND BROMELIADS
  Twenty-five hybrids and 89 of the 105 orchid species found in the region are cultivated at Xcaret, creating a fantastic symphony of colors, textures, forms, sizes and aromas. Many people are surprised when they see vanilla plants intertwined above their heads: vanilla beans are the mature fruit of the Vanilla planifolia orchid. The plant is endemic to the New World and was widely consumed by pre-Hispanic civilizations. Experts work in the hothouse’s lab to reproduce different orchid species—almost all of which are on the endangered species list—to help various reforestation programs.
  Schedule: Summer 8:30 a.m. to 6:45 p.m. Winter 8:30 to 5:45 p.m.

- CORAL REEF AQUARIUM
  The coral reef aquarium transports visitors to the depths of the Caribbean Sea. It exhibits the biodiversity of the ocean’s underwater gardens, with different ecosystems thriving at different depths. Very few aquariums in the world have been able to exhibit long-term healthy samples of these delicate and complex ecosystems. More than 500 corals have been planted successfully on the artificial reef structures, thanks, in part, to the unfiltered sea water continuous pumping system that allows free flow of plankton directly into the exhibit tanks, along with sponge larvae, corals, mollusks and algae that start natural colonization processes. This Xcaret marine exhibit includes more than 5,000 living organisms.
  Schedule: Summer 8:30 a.m. to 6:45 p.m. Winter 8:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.
5.1 ATTRACTIONS INCLUDED IN THE ADMISSION TO THE PARK.

5.1.3 CULTURE

• MAIN PLAZA
The contemporary style of the Main Plaza contrasts harmoniously with the interior, that surprises visitors with its typical Colonial Period façade, and an unusual entrance to a silver mine that guards the way to an interesting and fun underground maze. Back on the surface, a library offers the best in the country’s literature and a small movie theater projects films from the Golden Era of Mexican cinematography. The Plaza also has an information center, reservations center for optional activities, restrooms with dressing rooms and lockers, a snack bar, a well-stocked gift shop, a lookout point with a panoramic view of the Park and live music at sunset:

THE PEOPLES’ BAND
Schedule: Summer 5:45 to 6:00 p.m. • Winter 4:45 to 5:00 p.m.
On double show days at the Tlachco theater they also play from 5:00 to 5:20 p.m.

Organ grinder
Schedule: Summer 6:15 to 7:00 p.m. • Winter 5:15 to 6:00 p.m.

• CHAPEL OF GUADALUPE
Sculpted on rock and boasting an imposing trunk carved with the image of the dark skinned virgin, this singular chapel dedicated to Our Lady of Guadalupe is the perfect place to become inspired with peace and devotion, where even horses can hear mass!
5.1 ATTRACTIONS INCLUDED IN THE ADMISSION TO THE PARK.

▸ 5.1.3 CULTURE

● HACIENDA HENEQUENERA - MUSEUM OF MEXICAN FOLK ART
Learn about the henequen extraction process and discover the hidden wonders of this typical 19th century manor house of neoclassic style. Here you can find the Museum of Mexican Folk Art hosting an incredible exhibit of masks, as well as ingenious art expressions that show the richness and uniqueness of Mexican popular art and the traditions of our beautiful country.

A beautiful legend tells the story of the Hacienda’s origins, of how a rich and very wise land owner was led by his goodness of heart and love for Mexico to collect the largest number of handcrafts to show the world the great range of traditions and history this beautiful country has to offer.

The Hacienda Henequenera has a total of 3,937 sq. feet in areas for groups and conventions and social events in a ballroom that can be divided into 4 for simultaneous sessions and a beautiful central patio. “El Yucateco” restaurant located in the patio can host up to 180 people.

● MAYAN VILLAGE
Travel to the past on a visit to the replica of a typical Mayan village. Ancient Mayan cities were built radiating out from the center: palaces and temples in the central area and the homes of the common people located in outlying areas. The typical Mayan oval-shaped houses were made of wood and hemp (the Maya had no knowledge of metal work), designed to keep cool all year round. Roofs were thatched with palm fronds cut during the full moon, when the sap reaches the tip of the leaves, which keeps the roof waterproofed for 20 to 25 years. Mayans kept small gardens next to their houses, in a raised level, to keep out small herbivores. Here they planted spices and the vegetables they used on a daily basis.
5. ATTRACTIONS

5.1 ATTRACTIONS INCLUDED IN THE ADMISSION TO THE PARK.

5.1.3 CULTURE

- MEXICAN CEMETERY “BRIDGE TO PARADISE”
  The cemetery is integrated to the elements of the Mayan Village as a tribute to the deeply rooted fascination with death that has existed in our country since pre-Hispanic times. This fascination gave birth to one of Mexico’s largest and best-known traditions: the All Saint’s Day, or “Day of the Dead”, festivities.

  The Bridge to Paradise is a unique structure representing the Gregorian calendar. The structure simulates a hill in the form of a cone with seven levels representing the days of the week and 365 tombs on the outside depicting the days in the year. Lastly, at the main entrance, there is a stairway with 52 steps that represent the weeks in the year.

  This cemetery clearly depicts the mixture of cultures that characterizes Mexico: pre-Hispanic Mexican civilizations did not have cemeteries, as we know them today; these came with the Colonial Period. However, the pre-Hispanic element is found in the cemetery’s shape: that of a spiraling conch shell, reminding us that our ancestors used the conch as a horn, communicating with the gods through the wind in the form of their breath.

- STAINED GLASS PLAZA
  This kind of kaleidoscope of multicolor light is a masterpiece of peace, light and lots of creativity. The artist worked 5 years in this work of art inspired by the beauty of the butterflies in Mexico and the color and brightness of the lush vegetation. From the Mayan River you will admire a spectacular view of its 101,628 pieces of glass in an approximate area of 87 yards.

- ST. FRANCIS OF ASSISI CHAPEL
  Rising from a promontory from where one can get a bird’s eye view of the grandeur of God’s creation, St. Francis of Assisi Chapel integrates elements of Mayan architecture with a Colonial-style bell tower and a living tree. Here, as in the majority of the Park’s buildings, ample use was made of the noble properties of native materials: the carved crucifix is made of sapodilla, the altar of limestone and the benches of thorn tree wood. Sunday Mass can be attended in this beautiful oceanfront chapel that has witnessed the weddings of the rich and famous, baptisms and celebrations to give thanks for life’s abundance.

5.1.3 CULTURE

ARCHAEOLOGICAL ZONES
With a history that stretches back a thousand years, Xcaret, known in ancient times as Polé, was a major walled ceremonial center, seaport and trade center that rose to the height of its power in the late Post Classic Period (1400-1517 AD). Its strategic location made it an important stop on the Mayan trade routes running down the coast clear to Honduras.

Group A is made up of ten structures located in the back of the inlet. Nine of them are supported by a platform creating a city square. One can still see decorative paint that remains in these buildings and temples. Group B is made up of the vestiges of seven structures as well as huge platforms that make it different from the rest of the groups. Group C is made up of four structures, a small square and a considerable number of low platforms. A façade with two columns sets it apart from the rest of the groups.

Finally, Group D or the cliff is made up of two main structures, one of them considered one of the tallest in Polé.

PRE-HISPANIC BALL GAME COURT
This sacred enclosure is an exact replica of the ball court found in Copán, Honduras and is the only one built in the ancient style after the Conquest, with hand-carved stones. The bleachers are decorated with 52 skulls that depict the passage of time in Mesoamerican cosmogony and its sides are sloped at a 21° angle. In ancient times these structures were used for ritual ball games and, although we don't know exactly how it was played in different cultures, Xcaret presents an interpretation of what it might have been, based on carvings on stelae, murals and painted jars and the traditions of some tribes in the northern part of Mexico that have passed the game down from one generation to the next.

You can also enjoy the fascinating scale model exhibit of Ancient Mayan Cities located around the Ball Court.

It’s a colorful folkloric fiesta, deeply rooted in tradition, displaying the skill of the riders and their fabulous Aztec horses. This is the first authentic Mexican breed of horses, which resulted from crossing quarter-horse stallions with Spanish mares. ● RITUAL CEREMONY OF THE VOLADORES (FLYING MEN)
  The Ritual Ceremony of the Voladores (Flying Men) is a pre-Hispanic tradition preserved to our day. This ceremony is dedicated to the Sun god to ask for fertility and a good harvest. All the elements of the dance are steeped in significance: for example, the four flying men represent the four elements—earth, air, fire and water. If one of them loses his balance, it will produce a natural disaster; and, if one loses his balance, all of them would be thrown to the ground. Xcaret’s Flying Men come from Veracruz, cradle of a tradition that is handed down from father to son, where it is a great honor to be chosen to take part in the ceremony. The Dance of the Huahuas is presented after this ritual. In 2010, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) declared the Ritual Ceremony of the Voladores as an Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity.

Schedule: All year 11:30 to 11:55 a.m., 1:00 to 1:20 p.m. and 3:00 to 3:20 p.m.

  It is a journey through the history of Mexico going from the pre-Hispanic era to the time of the Spanish conquest, colonial times, independent Mexico and the revolution, finally arriving to present day Mexico, a country with an age-old mixture of culture and traditions that have lasted through the ages.
  More than 300 artists in original attire exhibit their talents in this spectacular stage with an ambiance of light and color and a display of traditional dances, enactments of Mexican history, legends and a full jamboree from the different regions of the country. Some of the areas Xcaret can offer you include:

- St. Francis of Assisi Chapel (consecrated for Catholic events)
- Chapel of Guadalupe (with a capacity for 600 people and with Catholic validity)
- Areas for civil or non-Catholic religious ceremonies
- Areas for cocktail parties
- Areas for private dinners
- Areas for receptions and banquets
- Areas for post-Wedding festivities

The diversity of our venues allows you to arrange events for anywhere from 2 to 600 people. We complement these magnificent settings with our services that include a variety of cuisines and allow you to choose from a selection of 3 and 4-course menus, hors d’oeuvres and cocktail bars.

Besides being known as a sacred Paradise with extraordinary natural scenery, Xcaret Park is also famous for the magnificent performances of our professional artists that take us back to our roots and touch our heartstrings with the beauty of Mexican traditions. Anything from pre-Hispanic dances, classical or traditional regional dance troupes to vernacular music can be the perfect complement to any event.
9.1 SACRED MAYAN JOURNEY

The Sacred Mayan Journey is a recreation of the ancient ritual pilgrimage by the people who inhabited the Yucatan Peninsula who left from Polé with the intent of crossing toward “Cuzamil”, modern day Cozumel Island, to worship the goddess Ixchel and to consult her oracle, the only one that existed in the region. This Journey is an invitation to understand the ties linking natural forces with humans through discipline, attitude, faith and teamwork.

This mystical journey was conceived to revive an ancient tradition in places like Xcaret, Cozumel and Playa del Carmen, establishing a new practice out of an ancient one, which, in the long run, and at various levels, will be able to create both a bond of cultural identity among locals and a new attraction for local, national and foreign tourism.

This event also seeks to create a more diverse cultural offering in the area through a multi-faceted project (encompassing anthropology, music, dance, theatre, rituals, purification, trade and physical effort) that both promotes tourism and educates the general public about the native culture of the area, something which had not happened in past years.

This event takes place every year in May.

9.2 FESTIVAL OF LIFE AND DEATH TRADITIONS

The Festival of Life and Death Traditions is a project aimed at recovering, promoting and educating people on the tradition of the Day of the Dead in Quintana Roo.

Between October 30th and November 2nd each year, Xcaret Park is the venue for this grand event.

In this annual event, society, artistic groups, independent artists and host states actively participate, with the goal of strengthening our identity, promoting integration and the cultural exchange of different practices and artistic visions on the traditional celebration of the Day of the Dead, declared an Intangible Cultural Heritage by UNESCO.

Also, the goal of The Festival of Life and Death Traditions is for every individual in Quintana Roo to revive and preserve this ancient celebration, so that, through different expressions, it can re-establish family, traditional and cultural ties and thus renew this ancient tradition once more, for the benefit of all concerned, both locals and those from other parts of the world.
